Endless opportunities await

Staying at the forefront of the industry, Techtextil India will continue to uphold its position as a comprehensive industry platform featuring a whole spectrum of products from the technical textile industry, nonwovens and its use in multiple application areas.

Maximise your brand exposure and demonstrate leading products at Techtextil India while forging valuable business contacts and interacting with the decision makers and influencers that matter most to your business.

Capitalise on this industry and illuminate enormous opportunities for your business at Techtextil India.

We are into precision components and accessories for the textile industry. This show is a follow up for the Indian target group to the product launches that we had done in Techtextil Frankfurt. We reiterated a lot of products in the market through this platform and gained a lot of interest from the visitors which included our existing clients and few potential prospects. We look forward to participating in the upcoming edition too.

Join us to gain unrivalled access to the growing Indian market!

The technical textile sector is one of the most emerging and inventive industries in the world, recording a growth rate of 11% annually. The Indian textiles industry, currently estimated at around $108 billion, is expected to reach $223 billion by 2021. With growing awareness and consumption of technical textiles, greater innovation in the field and demand from end-user industries, the country is a promising destination with an increasing demographic dividend and consumption scenario.

Gravitate towards these rising market trends by demonstrating your innovative solutions and expand your sales potential at Techtextil India.
